

A T T E N T I O N !

The Federal Communication Commission will be implementing new regulations to reduce the number of unsolicited faxes, which will go into effect on June 1, 2005. In order for OPW Fuel Management Systems to comply with these new regulations, we will need to have written permission from our customers, distributors, and potential clients to allow us to continue sending information by fax. Please take a few moments to help us update our database with your most current contact information, and permit us to continue mailing, faxing and e-mailing your company with important pricing changes, invoices, product updates, new product information, special offers, and company policy changes.
